

TURNER DONOVAN MILITARY BOOKS

Catalogue 151 “Sangro” – May-June 2017

Turner Donovan Military Books

We are leading dealers in rare and secondhand books on British military history from around 1800 to 1945. The Great War, 1914-1918, has always been our speciality and we hold extensive stocks of regimental and divisional histories, official histories, standard works, memoirs, Rolls of Honour, Army Lists and so forth.

Please note

Our stock is largely comprised of original editions in very good condition. We do not handle modern-day inferior quality paperback reprints. All our books are guaranteed to be as described, but if you are not happy with your purchase it may be returned for refund.

Catalogues

We issue a regular catalogue of new stock by e-mail and in printed form. We also circulate, by e-mail only, a catalogue of reduced items.

If you have not already given us your e-mail address we would remind you to do so, in order to benefit from timely receipt of our main catalogues and from our occasional reduced price clearance catalogues which will be sent by e-mail only.

TURNER DONOVAN MILITARY BOOKS

Catalogue No. 151 "Sangro" – May-June 2017

Our new catalogue contains a wide-ranging selection of new stock in all the customary areas, including many interesting memoirs and works of reference and some interesting and rare official histories. Of particular note is item 1, the known but unpublished memoirs of a naval officer present at the Battle of Trafalgar. Also a collection of photographs of military stations in India and of the Indian Army on the Western Front: a fine resource offering much potential value to a publisher, researcher or photographic archive interested in this field. The collection is offered in two lots (11 and 12).

Please note my change of address from Flat 4 to Flat 1, 22 Florence Road. All other address details remain as before, as do my telephone number and email address.

Almost all our books are illustrated on our website:

NAPOLEONIC WARS

Unpublished Naval Memoirs including The Battle of Trafalgar

1. Diary of Henry Browne Mason, Captain. R.N. [i]+67pp. (rectos only), carbon typescript, approx. 17,000 words. Bound in green cloth, c.1920s, with title "Diary H.B.M." in gilt to front board.

Captain Browne's autobiographical memoirs, unpublished to our knowledge (although a copy exists at the National Maritime Museum, Greenwich). Entered RN as a Volunteer Dec. 1803 on the Prince, present at the Battle of Trafalgar then transferred to the Amphion aboard which he was captured by French privateers in the Med., 1809; escaped from French captivity in 1811 & reached England via Holland; rejoined the service & promoted to a Lieutenantcy in the Dreadnaught then several other ships in the Mediterranean Station; to Half Pay 1815. Trafalgar extract. 21/10/1805: "took part in the battle of Trafalgar. We were unfortunately a very dull sailer, & in consequence, being unable to keep our station, were put out of the line, & when at daybreak the combined fleet was discovered to leeward, & our fleet bore up in chase, we were astern of the whole fleet... It was poor satisfaction that we had a magnificent sight of the battle, but at length we passed through the disabled ships on both sides & perceived a French 90 gunship (the Achille) making sail for Cadiz, with only her mizentopmast gone. We stood towards her & should have had no chance of coming up with her, but pouring in our broadside brought down her foremast, & she took fire. With the hope of disabling us in masts, she only fired at our rigging, & only having four shots in the hull, we had but six men wounded... The fire increased so rapidly that we ceased firing, & sent our boats to save the crew. In half an hour she blew up. We then stood towards the Santissima Trinidad, a Spanish four decker... we took out the crew & scuttled her... The sight in the morning was most deplorable, most of the prizes had been sunk, four only had gone to Gibraltar, whither we also shaped our course, leaving a few of our own fleet riding out the gale at anchor..." Prior to this Mason describes his upbringing & early career in the Royal Navy; afterwards various sallies in the Med., his capture, captivity, escape & subsequent career. Olive green cloth, c.1920s, somewhat stained, generally VG, presumably one of a small number of copies circulated for family members. See illustrations on our website. £275.00

2. The Young Rifleman's Comrade: A Narrative of his Military Adventures, Captivity & Shipwreck. Edited by Goethe. 1st Ed., xxiv+310pp. Henry Colburn. 1826.

Personal account of a German conscript of 1806 in the French army in the Peninsula, captured, confined in a prison ship off Cadiz &c. until prevailed upon to join the King's German Legion in Sicily then Italy, afterwards serving in England & on board ship in the East Indies until finding his way home in 1818. The author identifies himself only as Philippe & is frequently misattributed as J.C. Mampel (whose "Adventures of a Young Rifleman" Colburn published in the same year), but he is clearly a different man. Contemp. calf sides (embossed with arms of Soc. of Writers to the Signet), newish leather sp. & lettering label, VG thus but not overly attractive. See illustration on our website. £125.00

3. A History of the Operations of the French & British Armies in Egypt, From the Landing of Bonaparte to the Restoration of the Ottoman Power; To Which is Prefixed An Ample Description of the Moral & Physical State of the Country, with Remarks on its Political Importance, & A Sketch of its History Previous to the Epoch of the French Invasion. By Several Gentlemen, Members of the Literary & Philosophical Society in Newcastle upon Tyne. Vol. I only of II: 1st Ed., xviii+752pp., frontis., fldg. map. Newcastle-upon-Tyne: Printed by K. Anderson, in The Side. 1809.

Volume I only, containing a very detailed description of Egypt, its peoples, geography, industry, &c., at the time of the military events described in the (absent) Vol. II. Serviceable modern qtr. blue morocco, gilt, VG thus & rare. See illustration on our website. £75.00

INDIA

11. The Indian Army, France & Flanders 1914-1915, Infantry, Cavalry, Supply & Transport Services, &c. A collection of approx. 250 photographic images depicting Indian troops in camp & on the march, including Sikh, Muslim, Hindu & Gurkha soldiers & their transport & equipment in domestic & other settings. Almost entirely contemp. issues by French commercial companies.

The arrival of the Indian Army at Marseilles in September & October 1914 excited much interest among the French populace. Several commercial companies began to photographically record their progress & publish their photographs in large series' of postcards. These include the arrival of the first contingents at the port of Marseilles, their parades through the town to the large camps established there, & many interesting images of these camps: soldiers' encampments, cooking arrangements, music &c., followed by a sequence of troops on the move by train to Northern France, regiments of infantry & cavalry on the march, Mule Corps units & equipment (including various forms of transport & equipment such as watercarts & other wheeled transport, some being motor transport), medical staff, types of soldiers (almost universally depicted by the publishers as 'les hindoos' but various types can be identified). This collection was sourced in France by a collector who scoured his local flea markets; although individual postcards appear for sale this collection is the largest we are aware of & would provide a superlative potential resource for a publisher, researcher, or photographic archive interested in this field. All the postcards are in VG state; many have been postally used & therefore bear French stamps &c. See illustrations on our website. £1600.00

12. India. A Collection of Postcard Views of British Barracks & other Military Buildings & Amenities at the height of the Raj; also some topographical views of the NWF &c. A fine collection of approx. 450 commercially produced postcards depicting British stations, mainly in Northern & Central India, also some in South India. A wide ranging variety of subjects & locations, being a combination of finely produced b/w photos., tinted postcards &c.

An exceptional collection of commercially produced postcards dating from the late 19th & early 20th Centuries depicting British cantonments, parade grounds, barrack buildings, hospitals, railway stations, clubs, soldiers' homes, post offices, &c., also various NWF views (Waziristan, Razmak, Khyber Pass, forts, camps &c.) & troops on the move. Locations include most of the major centres such as Simla, Rawalpindi, Quetta, Poona, Dalhousie, Mhow, Bareilly, Dagshai, Jhansi, Peshawar &c. A superlative potential resource for a publisher, researcher, or photographic archive. See illustrations on our website. £1400.00

13. Verbatim Report of The Debate on The Indian Civil Service in the House of Commons, June 29, 1875 [And:] Opinions of the Press on the Debate of the 29th of June, 1875, in the House of Commons, On the Indian Civil Service. 1st Ed., orig. printed wraps., 48pp., foolscap. J. Wakeham, Printer, Kensington. August 1875.

Report of the debate plus press opinions contained in the last 10 pages. The debate particularly concerned "the position of the civilians in the N.W. Provinces of India" who felt that they were victims of a "scandalous breach of faith on the part of the Government," i.e. "Lord Dalhousie gave a pledge that half the Commissionerships & Assistant Commissionerships in the Punjab & Oudh should be given to the civilians of those provinces. But the promise has been flagrantly broken. Many of the best posts have been systematically conferred on military officers without any legal or scholastic education, & with no claim but the favour of some high dignitary at Calcutta..." Interesting debate on patronage in India & the ICS, with matter ranging all over India, not just the aforementioned territories. Wraps. somewhat foxed/stained, generally VG. See illustration on our website. £45.00

14. East India (Revenues, &c.). Returns Relating to the Armies of India, &c. Ordered by the House of Commons to be Printed, 16 April 1858. 1st Ed., 36pp., foolscap (inc. fldg. table). For Parliament. 1858.

Contains various tables such as "Disposition Return showing the British & Native Armed & Disarmed Native Troops throughout the Bengal Presidency..."; same for other Presidencies & Burma, divided into Divisions; Order of Battle of the Persian Expeditionary Field Force (1856-57); Memorandum Showing the manner in which Recruits have been raised for the East India Company's Service, &c. Much interesting detail. Later blue cloth, gilt title to sp. See illustration on our website. £50.00

15. Map of Burmah & The Surrounding Countries by James Wyld, Geographer to the Queen... 1886. Fldg. map, 64x80cm approx., cut into 24 compartments & laid down on linen with marbled paper to outside panels, attractive hand-coloured detail. James Wyld. 1886.

Author was AA&QMG of the Div. 1917-19. "These reminiscences are personal, but as their writer was senior administrative officer on the staff of the 48th Division in Italy, they give a clear idea of its task. There is a good account of trench warfare conditions on the lofty Asiago plateau, & of the final offensive, during which the 48th was the only British division left in the mountains." - Falls. Orig. black cloth, gilt to sp., divisional patch to front, little speckled o/w VG & rare. See illustration on our website. £145.00

141. BEAMAN ([Lt.-Col.] Ardern [Arthur Hulme, DSO]) The Squadron. 1st Ed., xvii+306pp., sketch map (of trenches near Hargicourt). John Lane, Bodley Head. 1920.
Beaman, a regular officer of the 1st Cavalry, Indian Army, who won the DSO on the North-West Frontier in 1915, joined the 4th (Queen's Own) Hussars as a combatant officer early in October 1917. He was present with the regiment at Cambrai & the regimental history records in detail his command of a 'composite squadron' in March 1918 & later "C" Squadron at Amiens &c. For reasons unknown he chose to present this Western Front 'memoir' from the point of view of the regimental chaplain: in any case it is a rare & interesting account of a cavalry regiment in France during 1917-18. Falls was unaware of the author's true identity, writing (in 'War Books'): "Mr Beaman went out to France in September 1917 as a Chaplain for attachment to a cavalry regiment. He records in great detail the life behind the lines, the events of the Battle of Cambrai, the German March Offensive, & the advance to victory. He is a sympathetic writer." Orig. red cloth, gilt, sp. sunned o/w VG & rare. See illustration on our website. £95.00

150. BREWER (Leighton) Riders of the Sky. 1st Ed., viii+163pp. VG in sl. chipped dw. Boston & NY: Houghton Mifflin. 1934.

Long narrative poem: "A story in verse of a young & sensitive American boy & his experiences as an air fighter in France. Among his comrades we find the well-known names of Eddie Rickenbacker, Hamilton Coolidge... [&c.] while across the pages stalk the greater shadows of Ball & Bishop & Guynemer & the Baron Richthofen & his knights of the Flying Circus... 'Riders of the Sky' is an Iliad of the air. Leighton Brewer, himself, was in the American Flying Service in France [13th Aero. Sqdrn., three confirmed victories], & his poem is a superb illustration of the definition of poetry as emotion recollected in tranquility." Scarce, especially in dw. See illustration on our website. £35.00

151. BUCHANAN (Sir George) The Tragedy of Mesopotamia. 1st Ed., ix+287pp., map. Blackwood. 1938.

The author, an expert on ports, was sent from India to investigate same & put in charge of organising Basra port. Author served with 1st CMR in France 1915-16 (he had originally enlisted in the 3rd CMR) in a dismounted role & was captured in a large German raid at Sanctuary Wood in June 1916. He describes these experience with immedicay & eloquence e.g., the night before going back to the line near Ypres: "Thirteenth Platoon was making a night of it. Pay-day had come & all the boys had money... We were gathered in the hut at C Camp near Outerham [sic]... & a big game of poker was in progress. Those that were not playing were looking on... The hut was filled with smoke, & every one was trying to talk at once. But every sound was hushed when Sergeant Forbes gave his order..." Instead of an expected rest the 1st CMR was going back up to Sanctuary Wood. There, the German attack came, & Rossiter was wounded & captured, ending up in several German hospitals & camps before being exchanged. He describes his experiences with interesting detail. 361. WORNE (John) Unrest on the Home Front. 1st Ed., 249pp. VG in sl. chipped dw. Richards.
Unusual WW1 novel. Sleeve note states: "An interesting (though historically quite unreliable) record of the fearful risks which surrounded any normal hero engaged in the superintendence of the purchase of Army Clothing during the Great War: showing how important it was to be extremely careful where & with whom one took lucnh & what one said to her... told in a manner calculated to make your wife wonder why you have suddenly become so cheerful. For this novel is not only meant to be funny but really is - extremely." Rare, especially in the striking dw designed by Frank C. Mitoffel. Near fine in sl. chipped dw. See illustration on our website. £250.00
362. WRIGHT (Capt. Peter E.) At the Supreme War Council. 1st USA Ed. (with new Preface by the author), [vi]+201pp., 8 portraits, fldg. map. NY: Putnam. 1921.
Wright was Assistant Sec. at the Military Section, involved with forward planning & predicting military requirements. Ian Beckett (in The First World War & British Military History) suggests that he only avoided "prosecution for revealing the deliberations of the SWC largely because it was felt that action would also have to be taken against FM Lord French..." Falls condemned it as an attack on Haig & eulogy of Foch & Wilson, saying "in military matters he is a light-weight." This edition includes a new Preface in which the author responds to the "many & hostile critics" who had greeted the publication of the book. Also contains portraits of war leaders not present in the UK Ed. Orig. dark maroon cloth, gilt, sp. dull & hinges a little pulled o/w VG with author's presentation inscrip. & monograph on half title. See illustrations on our website. £30.00

Hospital established at a country house near Maidstone in Kent, lent by Lord Romney for the use of Voluntary Aid Detachment (or VAD) 14. Contains various articles, photos. & sketches illustrative of the hospital, including an introductory note by a member of the Finance Committee; My Experience of Hospital Nurses (by Cpl. Sincup, KSLI); a description of the house & its history; "Scraps from Hospital Records" - being a record of the hospital from mobilisation in Oct. 1914 to April 1916 (when the hospital closed). noting that some 671 patients passed through its care. Also the customary humorous contributions & a roll of nurses & other staff who served with the hospital. Rare record of this temporary war hospital. VG. See illustration on our website. £50.00

392. The Tank. Published by The Arista Society of the British War Mission: Vol. I, No. 1, 17 Dec. 1917-Vol. I, No. 13, January 1919. 1st Ed., each issue 40pp., some 415pp. in all, approx. 100 photos. New York. Contemp.

The Arista Society was a 'fraternal rather than social' association formed by & for members of the staff of the Inspection Department of the British War Mission in America in 1917; it originally had about 100 members until membership was opened to members of other Departments of the Mission. Circulation of The Tank reached around 1400 copies (but surviving copies seem remarkably rare for that). The magazine contained features of current interest, individual war experiences of members, much matter relating to the work of the British War Mission in the USA, portraits & profiles of officers/officials, war news & photos., appointments, honours etc. in the Mission, several articles on women's war work including a "Special Interview" with Mrs Pankhurst; another "Special Interview" with Bruce Bairnsfather (when on visit to the USA), & much more. All thirteen issues bound together in brown cloth, retaining attractive orig. col. wraps. (several designs), ownership inscrips. of Major S.F. Montague (of the Inspection Dept., whose portrait &c. appear within). VG & rare. See illustrations on our website. £145.00

393. Canada to Ireland: The Visit of the "Duchess of Connaught's Own." By A.M. Drysdale. 1st Ed., orig. pictorial wraps., 20pp., 7 photo. plates. (battalion on parade, &c.) T. Fisher Unwin. 1917.

Commemorative souvenir of the visit of the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish Canadian Rangers to Ireland in Jan. & Feb. 1917, when they received an enthusiastic welcome from Limerick to Belfast & were received everywhere from Catholic cathedrals to a dinner for the men at the Ulster Hall. The Irish Canadians, aka 199th Canadian Infantry Bn., did not reach the western Front as a unit: arriving in England after their Irish tour they were absorbed into the 23rd Reserve Bn. within several months. This is, therefore, an unusual survival of the regiment's brief existence. Sl soiled o/w VG. See illustration on our website. £65.00

Then a civilian architect in the Public Works Dept. at Singapore, Inglis describes the last days there - even with Jap tanks lapping at their door the British community believed they were invulnerable. Among those authorised to leave 48 hours before the capitulation, he was bombed on the quayside but escaped: "I travelled in 15 different boats... walked about 20 miles, went by lorry, bus, car & train & even swam for seven & a half hours, & arrived in Colombo possessing only the shirt & shorts I stood up in!" The first craft was sunk by bombs, he was pulled out of the water by Malay fishermen, continued by sampan, island hopping to Sumatra & finally picked up by a RN destroyer. On arrival in India he was commissioned in the RIE & died at sea in Feb. 1944. No. 27 of 100 copies printed for the family of Major Inglis "so that his friends may have a permanent record of his experiences." Rare & interesting account of escape from Singapore.
