Catalogue No. 201 Ancre - May 2025

This catalogue contains a special selection of works on the Royal Artillery in the Great War, in three Parts: I. Memoirs, General History & Studies; II. Unit Histories; III. Training Manuals & Other Instructional Matter. The latter includes some scarce American Expeditionary Forces training material.

We are leading dealers in rare and second hand books on British military history from around 1800 to 1945. The Great War, 1914-1918, has always been our speciality and we hold extensive stocks of regimental and divisional histories, official histories, standard works, memoirs, Rolls of Honour, Army Lists and so forth.

A further selection of stock can be viewed on our fully searchable website

Part I: Memoirs, General Histories & Studies

1. Artillery & Trench Mortar Memories, 32nd Division.

1st Ed., 687pp. Printed by Unwin Bros. 1932
Very substantial compilation by Old Comrades, containing diaries of Lt. A.B. Scott, MC, of "X" & "W" TM Batteries & Reconnaissance Officer, 32nd Div. Artillery HQ; Rev. R.E. Grice-Hutchinson, MC, Chaplain, 32nd Div. Artillery; late Major L. Heathcote-Amory, Staff Capt., 32nd Div. Artillery (DoW Aug. 1918) & brief recollections by seven others. Orig. blue cloth, gilt, sp. tanned/little marked o/w VG. [Ref: 68462] £125

2. An Australian in the R.F.A., Being Letters & Diary of Adrian Consett Stephen, Lieut., R.F.A., MC, CdeG.

1st Ed., xviii+200pp., portrait frontis. Sydney: Penfold. 1918
Adrian Consett Stephen was ed. at Sydney Grammar School & St Paul's College in the University of Sydney. He graduated B.A. in 1913 and obtained his LL.B. in 1915. Had he not decided to enlist he would have been called to the Bar. However, he was commissioned in the RFA on 1st June 1915 and proceeded to France in August. He was initially attached to a Trench Mortar Battery, then to "D" Battery 242 Army Brigade R.F.A. Mentioned in Despatches and awarded the Croix de Guerre in 1917, later awarded the MC during operations at Passchendaele (he was in temporary command of the battery for several months, with acting rank of Major). He was KiA 14th March 1918 & is buried in La Clytte Military Cemetery. Contains a lengthy obituary notice published in the Sydney Morning Herald, a Preface by his father & his letters from the Front from August 1915 onwards including a most interesting account of artillery work on the Somme, containing his impressions of the first day of the offensive, the attack at Pozieres later in July and the capture of Thiepval on 26th September. In 1917 he was involved in the capture of Vimy Ridge and the Third Battle of Ypres. Orig. blue cloth, gilt, covers damp speckled o/w VG, inscribed "L.B. Heath in memory of his friend The Author." [Ref: 68457] £125

3. Lines of Fire: No. 1 R.G.A. Officer Cadet School Trowbridge. Vol. 1, No. 8, November 1918.

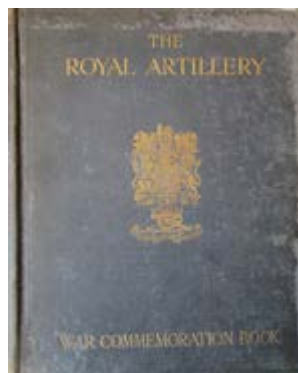

Orig. dec. wraps., 28pp., several cartoons. Massey & Co., Printers, Trowbridge. Contemp.
Souvenir of the School, largely humorous. Orig. dec. wraps., VG. [Ref: 68538] £25

4. Royal Artillery Historical Society Proceedings, Vol. I, No. 5, January 1977: The Royal Artillery in World War 1.

Orig. dec. wraps., 40pp., 6 photos., map. RA Institution. 1977
The Proceedings appeared infrequently (the one prior to this edition in 1965). This edition dedicated to Artillery Tactics in France, 1914-1918, plus a summary of Artillery Tactical Lessons year by year, a list of senior commanders & statistical notes on the growth of the artillery during the war. Useful reference. Orig. dec. wraps., VG. [Ref: 68539] £45

5. Royal Artillery War Commemoration Book: A Regimental Record written & illustrated for the most part by artillerymen while serving in the line during the Great War.

1st Ed., xxiv+408pp., folio, col. & b/w plates throughout, sketches &c. Bell. 1920
A superb memorial record that contains numerous accounts of different units & actions, individual experiences &c. as well as the Roll of Honour of officers. Orig. cloth, covers rather rubbed & worn but overall very sound, near VG, internally clean. [Ref: 68588]

£50

6. ARNEWOOD [Pseud. of COOKE (Col. E.D.M.H. [Montague], DSO, RA)] With the Guns West & East.

Illustrated by Lt.-Col. E.A. Hobday, CMG (& two sketches by L. Raven Hill). 1st Ed., 96pp., 26 plates. Privately published in a Limited Edition of 200 Copies. 1923

Cooke went to France with 5th Royal Horse Artillery Brigade in 1914. Subsequently commanded a Battery & gives a very good account of The Battle of Loos, when he acted in support of 15th (Scottish) Div. In 1916 he took a newly raised New Army battery of the 34th Div. to France & fought with them on the Somme until August when selected to form a gunnery school in India. Later served with 60th (London) Div. in Palestine 1917-18 including the capture of Jerusalem. Falls says "This last is particularly interesting as he gives a graphic account of the capture of Jerusalem, into the suburbs of which he must have been about the first man in the British Army to penetrate." Orig. blue paper covd. boards with wheat cloth spine strip, paper label to front board, VG, number 47 of 200 copies printed, rare, inscribed in ink on half title: "From the Author Montague Cooke Nov. 1926" beneath which is inscribed: "Died in Milford-on-Sea in March 1957. He was one of the first officers (R.H.A.) to enter Jerusalem on the morning of Dec. 9th 1917 & himself accepted the key of the G.P.O. in token of surrender. It was a proud exhibit in his home in New Milton." [Ref: 68589] £225

7. ASSHER (Ben) [Pseud. of BORADAILE (Major Colin, MC, RGA)] A Nomad Under Arms: The Chronicle of an Artilleryman from 1914 to the Armistice.

1st Ed., 368pp., frontis. & 10 plates, 7 maps (4 fldg.). Witherby. 1931

A young regular, the author was posted, in November 1914, to a 4.7-inch how. battery near Kemmel Hill; remained with them in this area until posted as a captain to a New Army 60-pdr. battery on the Somme front in Jan. 1916. Wounded by a shell in Feb. 1917 he was then at home until July, returning to the front in time for Passchendaele & commanded a battery through most of 1918. Orig. brown cloth, blocked black, near fine & scarce account with good maps & interesting photos. taken by the author. [Ref: 68621] £125

8. A BATTERY COMMANDER: Reflections & Recollections. France 1915.

16pp., fldg. map, sketch. Offprint from Jnl. of the RA. 1939
Operating around Givenchy &c. Later maroon cloth with paper label. [Ref: 68606] £15

9. BECKE (Major A.F., late RFA) The Coming of the Creeping Barrage.

24pp., fldg. map. Offprint from Jnl. of the RA, Vol. LVIII. Inc. Somme 1916, with fldg. map of 1/7/16. Later maroon cloth with paper label. [Ref: 68607] £15

10. BOYD (Donald [F., MC]) Salute of Guns.

1st Ed., 389pp., 4 plates (from aerial photos.). Cape. 1930

Eloquent & scarce memoirs of war commissioned RFA officer in France May 1915-Oct. 1918 (with one six-month break); much on the Somme, 3rd Ypres & March Retreat. The late Bob Wyatt included the work in his revised edition of Falls (Greenhill, 1989): "...describes attitudes of Indian Army Regulars to the newly joined schoolboys; the Somme, Hill 60, Arras & the Spring Retreat are all covered with the sort of skill one usually expects only from writers such as Sassoon & Blunden. The story is told here of the deserters who lived in High Wood who came out at night to search for food amongst the corpses & when the Gunners went out to capture them seven or eight surrendered & the rest were bombed in their dug-out..." Orig. orange cloth, gilt, VG. [Ref: 65955] £100

11. BRAGG (Sir Lawrence) DOWSON (Major-Gen. A.H.) & HEMMING (Lt.-Col. H.H.) Artillery Survey in the First World War.

1st Ed., 43pp. Field Survey Assoc. 1971
Covers survey, counter battery work, flash spotting & sound ranging, including personal experience of the authors. Orig. red cloth, gilt, VG & scarce. [Ref: 68474] £65

12. BROWNLOW (Capt. C.A.L., DSO) The Breaking of the Storm.

1st Ed., vii+232pp., map ep. Methuen. 1918
Excellent account of the first months of the war by a Royal Field Artillery officer with a Brigade Ammunition Column (& later a battery) in the 3rd Division: contains Mobilisation, Mons, Le Cateau, the Aisne, Flanders &c. Falls stated: "Where we have a professional soldier with the gift of writing, we get something very much more valuable than the much commoner output of the professional soldier who cannot write or the professional writer who knows nothing of soldiering. This is particularly true of the first days of the War. Captain Brownlow, a good writer & a soldier obviously devoted to his profession, here gives an interesting account of the Retreat from Mons, the Advance to the Aisne, & the subsequent move to Flanders. His pen-pictures are extraordinarily interesting. He was, however, unfortunately serving with a brigade ammunition column... so that his view of the actual fighting was limited." Orig. blue cloth, gilt, rather worn & rear cover dampstained, o/w generally VG, hence inexpensive copy & rare. [Ref: 68447] £50

13. COOKSON (Mrs Roger) Ed. The Boy With the Guns: By the Late Lieut. George W. Taylor, Royal Field Artillery, B.A., Barrister at Law.

Arranged by His Sister... From Notes & Letters. With an Intro. by Sir James Crichton-Browne [his Grandfather]. 1st Ed., xlv+197pp., portrait frontis., plate (of his original wooden grave marker), 3 maps (of the Serbian campaign, from sketches by the subject). John Lane (On Active Service series). 1919

George William Taylor was born in 1892, Ed. at Eton ("as far as his education was concerned his time at Eton was largely wasted. His talent was mathematical, his taste was for natural science, but he was forced through the usual dry classical study, which tended to dwarf rather than to develop his faculties... but he always acquitted himself with credit...") & Trinity College, Cambridge. Taylor was reading for the Bar when war came & on 15/8/14 he was commissioned in the RFA. He served at Gallipoli then with the 10th (Irish) Div. in Salonika until invalided with sickness. While recuperating in London he was called to the Bar by the Inner Temple in 1916. In April 1917 he was posted to France & there wounded on 5/6/17 during preparations for the Battle of Messines, returning again to England for treatment. He sailed for France for the last time on 17/8/17 & Died of wounds (gas poisoning incurred on the night of 1st/2nd Nov.) on 9/11/17 whilst serving with "A" Batt., 150th Army Bde. RFA. Contains an account he wrote of his experiences in Serbia, his letters from France, extracts from letters from his CO describing the manner of his passing & (in the introduction-cum-memoir by his Grandfather) other extracts relating to his good conduct at Messines &c., for which he had been recommended for the MC (which he never received & for which his Grandfather lobbied in vain after his death). Orig. blue cloth, blindstamped & titled in black to front & spine, sp. tanned & a little indented o/w VG, rare & desirable memoir. [Ref: 68456] £145

14. CURTOIS (Major J.R.W., MC) The Infant Archie in France (1914-1918).

18pp. offprint extracted from Journal of the RA 1940.
Author served with 19 A.A. Section RFA. Maroon cloth, paper label to front. [Ref: 68605] £15

15. CUST (L.G.A., Lieut., RFA) From Ploegsteert to Graudenz: The Story of a Prisoner-of-War.

1st Ed., orig. printed wraps., [v]+77pp., frontis., plate, 4 photos. Privately Printed by Spottiswoode, Ballantyne & Co. Ltd. 1919
Very rare memoirs privately published in a small limited edition. Lionel George Archer Cust, 85th Batt. RFA, was captured in the Catacombs, Ploegsteert, 11th April 1918 during the Lys offensive, whilst acting as liaison officer to 7th Inf. Bde. He describes ops.

around Messines 7-11 April then experiences of capture & life at Rastatt & Graudenz PoW camps. VG, with advert loosely inserted offering copies at 5/-, available from the printer at Eton College, the author's father at Datchet House, Datchet, & Hatchards. [Ref: 53917] £125

16. DAVSON (Lt.-Col. H.M., CMG, DSO) Memoirs of the Great War.

1st Ed., viii+172pp., portrait frontis. Aldershot: G&P. 1964
Rare posthumously published memoir in a very limited edition, no. 49 of just 100 copies printed. Good account of the hazards of training a reconstituted 'G' Battery RHA, then to France with the 8th Div. in Oct. 1914; after a few weeks in action at Kemmel he was posted to command a howitzer brigade in 6th Div., served in the Ypres Salient during 1915 & 1916 until posted to the 35th

(Bantam) Div. - of which he later wrote the history - on the Somme. Later served with that Division at Arras, Passchendaele, Spring Offensive, Flanders 1918 &c. A very well written personal account containing much of interest. Orig. blue cloth, gilt, VG. [Ref: 63533] £245

17. AS ABOVE:

Orig. blue cloth, gilt, VG ex-Staff College Lib. [Ref: 68414] £165

1st Ed., 297pp., portrait frontis., 11 plates. NY: Lane. 1918

Harry Augustus Butters, a native of San Francisco, was born in 1892, Ed. at Beaumont College in England for a year 1906-07 then returned to the US. In the years before 1914 he travelled widely & inherited his family's ranches & fortune at the age of seventeen. He landed in England early in 1915 & obtained a commission in the Warwickshire Regiment, afterwards being transferred to the RFA. Went to France in Sept. 1915, attached to 107th Brigade R.F.A., initially being posted to the Ammunition Column then to "D" Battery, with which he participated in the Battle of Loos. He was blown up in May 1916 and somewhat shell shocked, posted back to the D.A.C., then to "B" Battery, 109th Brigade R.F.A. and was killed in action by a shell at his O.P. on 31st August 1916. He was twenty-four years old and is buried in Meaulté Military Cemetery. The book comprises an account of his life with around 150pp. letters from the front. Regarding the Battle of Loos he wrote: "Our observation station was about a mile in front of the guns in one of our support trenches... One of us was on post each day controlling the fire that we were throwing into the German wire entanglements, cutting lanes through it and sweeping sections of it away where we were able to open the way for our infantry to charge through... this ugly looking barbed wire... it is about ten yards broad and as strong as German efficiency and driving can make it. And it is THIS that you have got to tear through with your four-inch guns..." Except that they couldn't. A detailed account of Loos & related artillery operations during the ensuing days (as well as later events) follows. Includes a tribute by Winston Churchill, reproduced from the Observer. Orig. blue cloth, gilt, somewhat rubbed & worn, lacking fep, generally sound & rare original edition. [Ref: 65636] £65

Covers the author's service in Flanders 1915 with 25th Div. RFA then a history/memoir of 61st Heavy Artillery Group in Macedonia 1916 & Egypt & Palestine campaigns 1917-18. A most informative & detailed personal memoir that also includes the author's pre-war experiences in India with Mountain Batteries from the 1880s to 1914 together with pen-portraits of various members of 61 HAG, from the MO down to clerks &c. Also contains an interesting series of 'Notes' on various events, also listing various officers in several engagements, &c. Falls adds: "It is not only a record of the War, but an effort to show how the average artillery officer prepared himself for that great trial. Written without any literary artifice, it is a valuable minor historical document from that point of view. It also contains a great detail of information regarding the heavy artillery in the Palestine Campaign." Orig. blue cloth, bevelled edges, gilt to sp. & front, sp. tanned & sl. chipped o/w VG & rare. 62. WRIGHT (Walter) The Hampstead Heavies (138th Heavy Battery R.G.A.) A Narrative of a 60 pounder Battery in France & Belgium during the Great War.

1st Ed., orig. dec. paper covd. boards, [vii]+40pp. Published [by the Author at] 14 Mackeson Road, Hampstead, NW3. 1926. The battery was raised in Hampstead in July 1915 & was at full strength by September. Training was rudimentary at first: "Real guns were out of the question, & so with great ingenuity pieces of piping were mounted on wheels, to assist the men in gun drill etc..."

Most of the men, being local men, were billeted at their own houses..." In due course the battery landed in France, in April 1916, & was soon operating in the Loos sector, where it remained until moving to the Ypres Salient in June 1917 & was in action there for the rest of that year. Then to the south to meet the Spring Offensive in 1918 & the Final Advance. Much on this period (including the Battery Commander's narrative of the March 1918 battles). Much interesting detail. The much-loved Battery Commander, to whom the book is dedicated, was Major Harold Graham Paris, MC & Bar, who was KIA at Estrees, 6th October 1918 (a full account of his death is included). I grew up in Hampstead & a fine col. portrait of Major Paris hung in the hall of the Old Hampstead Town Hall. It is now, apparently, "A vibrant community arts club." During its makeover, when visiting Hampstead, I persuaded the builders to let me in. The portrait was no longer there & I often wonder where it ended up. Rare history, this example VG with ownership inscrip. of the aforementioned Battery Commander: "H. Margery Paris. April 18th 1926." [Ref: 68417] £165

99. KNIGHT (Corporal [Thomas]) The British Battalion at Oporto: With Adventures, Anecdotes, & Exploits in Holland; At Waterloo: & in The Expedition to Portugal.

1st Ed., xi+126pp., 2 plates, map (The Environs of Oporto). Published by Effingham Wilson, London, Waugh & Innes, Edinburgh & Thomas Murray, Glasgow. 1834

Thomas Knight served with the 95th Rifle Brigade & in the Portuguese service. After a brief period at sea he worked for a grocer at Tilbury. Tiring of this he enlisted with the 3rd Bn. of the 95th in 1812, served in Flanders & at Waterloo. He was discharged but in 1831 volunteered for service in the cause of Queen Donna Maria's unsuccessful claim for the Portuguese crown (the Miguelite War). That is not to say he was particularly moved by this noble cause, he was a mercenary. In the publishers' Preface they state that they had been advised to "exclude the greater part, if not all, of the Corporal's descriptions of eating & drinking, & getting drunk, &c." However, apart from reorganising Knight's "confused mass of anecdotes & details" into a "continuous narrative" they claim to have kept the ms. intact: "In conclusion we beg, in justice to the Corporal, that, although he confesses to many iniquities, the reader will be so good as to refer to the certificates from his officers, & thereby convince himself that, notwithstanding all his plundering, drinking, &c., he deserves that character, which it seems to be his sole ambition to possess - Knowing his duty as a Soldier." Library Hub (formerly COPAC) records 10 copies, but the book is remarkably scarce for that: neither Victor Sutcliffe (Sandler) nor Brett-James record it. Fine modern qtr. green morocco, gilt, green cloth boards, the two plates bear ink stamps of Edinburgh Subscription Library, o/w internally clean. [Ref: 65055] £425

126. ADDISON (Rt. Hon. Christopher, PC, MD, FRCS) Four And A Half Years: A Personal Diary from June 1914 to January 1919.

1st Ed., 2 Vols., 297pp., portrait frontis., 33 photos., map & [332]pp., frontis., 31 photos. Hutchinson. 1934
Christopher Addison, 1st Viscount Addison, was a professor of anatomy then a Liberal, & later Labour, politician. During the Great War he served Lloyd George as Under-Secretary at the Ministry of Munitions from its inception in May 1915-July 1916 & Minister of Munitions from then until July 1917 when he became Minister for Reconstruction with responsibility for preparing plans for -post-war reconstruction. "When the political crisis of May 1915 saw Asquith's Liberal government transformed into a coalition including the Unionists and Labour, Addison found himself moved as under-secretary to Lloyd George's new office as minister of munitions. His political role now moved on to a higher plane. He was an essential lieutenant as Lloyd George used munitions' production to transform the war economy. He was most active in costing contracts and in negotiations with arms manufacturers and the unions. Here he had to handle delicate issues over dilution of skilled labour and the use of women workers. There was a prolonged crisis on the Clyde where the Clyde Workers' Committee called for strikes; Addison was centrally involved in trying to provide a solution through the use of trade cards and 'de-badging' procedures, and with some success. He became, therefore, a major practitioner of 'war socialism.' Also he became much involved in the political manoeuvres that led to the triumph of Lloyd George. He was among those Liberals who strongly backed Lloyd George in the cabinet wrangles on military conscription. The latter's success in April 1916 severely damaged the authority of Asquith and encouraged many Liberals to think of him as a replacement at 10 Downing Street." - DNB. Both vols. sl. foxed, sl. spotting to boards o/w VG in orig. cloth, Vol. I inscribed by the author "This Book belongs to my friend H.L. Latham. Christopher Addison." Ian Beckett (in 'The First World War & British Military History') suggests that Addison was one of those post-war memoirists whose "financial situation compelled writing" - although the scarcity of this work (& its predecessor, 'Politics from Within' [1924]) suggest that its print run & sales were small, so they cannot have helped much with his financial situation. Preface by Marechal Foch. 1st Ed., xiii+414pp., 3 fldg. maps in end-pocket. VG in dw. Constable. 1919

The C-in-C's self-serving & warped recollections of the 1914 campaign (in fact ghost written by the 'Times' journalist Lovat Fraser). Falls thought French "his own worst enemy" in "His lack of generosity to a fine soldier" (Smith-Dorrien) adding: "his ignorance, even when he was in a position to obtain accurate knowledge, regarding what had actually happened were most uncomfortable to the reader." The book is derided by modern historians (Keith Simpson, in The First World War & Military History, termed it "an inaccurate & biased account of his period in command in 1914-15, to which Haig took exception" while Richard Holmes, in the same work refers to his "outspoken attack on Kitchener."). Orig. blue cloth, gilt, VG dw (some abrasion to sp. panel) & scarce thus, & despite its shortcomings an important work re the historiography of the 1914-15 campaign, French's treatment of Smith-Dorrien, &c. A detailed & well-illustrated history of the Final Advance, with Orders of Battle & various statistics, VC citations &c. Most important for account of the Battle of Amiens, acclaimed by Falls, who states: "primarily a work for the professional soldier or instructed military student. From that point of view it is probably the best unofficial work - though based entirely on official information - dealing with operations on a large scale which has appeared in this country. Its great value lies in the fact that the Fourth Army's attack on the 8th August 1918, Ludendorff's 'black day,' was one of the most difficult & at the same time perfectly planned & completely successful operations of the War.
